SERBIA CRUCIFIED: THE BEGINNING

Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .If what Lieutenant Krunich has written were really and altogether what it seems to be in part-if it were in any abstract or pretentious way a treatise on the national spirit of Serbia, an interpretation, or a formal plea, -one would have to set it down simply as a very naive book. Especially in the earlier chapters, there is, indeed, an overflow of emotion that strikes one as somewhat primitive or childlike-an unrestrained glorification of Serbia, a vehement, heartfelt hatred of Bulgaria, a loathing almost physical for Serbia's enemies and especially for Germans. The effect of unsophistication is increased by a somewhat overwrought and ecstatic style. Different peoples, to be sure, have different temperaments. To the Anglo-Saxon the melting of the soul into an intense feeling of mingled hatred and pity may seem a kind of moral delinquency. In the Serbian this very state appears to be consistent with the sternest, most deliberate heroism, if not the normal accompaniment of it. One night, after five days fighting before Nish, Lieutenant Krunich was lying in the grass outside the trench. Suddenly, in the midst of this silence, this beauty . a voice, a song! A beautiful manly voice on the Bulgarian side is softly and sadly singing a song. My God, a Bulgarian is singing! My whole being, intoxicated by the sweetness of this night, now fell into such an emotion under the influence of this voice, this song, that I became oblivious of place and reality. . . . La Tosca! I exclaimed loudly. A Mario in his last moments, in a sea of most dreadful human unhappiness, feeling the sighs of the dead instead of the...
